

TABLE #1Oregon Student Success Act Overview, Part A

Lori Sattenspiel, OSBA Legislative Services director

The Legislature passed the Student Success Act this session and it's the biggest bill for schools in a generation, too much for one table. Come hear the first half of our OSBA review of the bill, which carries significant accountability requirements along with the cash infusion. This presentation will cover different content than Student Success Act Part B (Table 13), and participation in both is encouraged.

TABLE #2Celebrating School Board Superheroes

Alex Pulaski, OSBA Communication Services director; Rachel Baker, OSBA branding and digital marketing strategist

School board members volunteer countless hours in service to students. How can you help celebrate your efforts and explain to your constituents – parents – what you do?

TABLE #3Equity and Civil Rights in School Sponsored Activities

Gina Roletto, Oregon Department of Education community engagement

With concerns about students of color being harassed at athletic events and school activities, the Oregon Department of Education and the Oregon School Board Members of Color Caucus are collaborating to develop district support systems to help provide safe spaces that are intentional, purposeful and responsive.

TABLE #4Collective Bargaining Trends for 2019

Marie Dudgeon, OSBA labor relations consultant

Will your district be bargaining next year? Hear the latest negotiation trends from the 2018-19 bargaining season, including information on district and association language and economic proposals.

TABLE #5Stump the Policy Chump

Rick Stucky, OSBA Policy Services specialist

Your time to ask that nagging specific or general question about policy or policy services.

TABLE #6Oregon Ethics

Spencer Lewis, OSBA member services attorney

Learn about the Oregon government ethics laws as they pertain to board members, including declaring conflicts of interest, receipt of gifts and use of the board member's position for financial gain.

TABLE #7The Board's Role in Mandatory Reporting of Child Abuse

Haley Percell, OSBA Litigation Services director

Bring your questions about a board member's responsibility to report child abuse and ensure that school staff are properly trained to identify and report child abuse.

TABLE #8Board Hearings

Callen Sterling, OSBA attorney

Learn about the different types of board hearings and how they should be conducted, including expulsion hearings, termination hearings and complaint appeal hearings.

TABLE #9Executive Sessions

Andrea Schiers, OSBA attorney

Learn what an executive session is, when it can be held and who can be excluded.

TABLE #10Legislative Impact on Policy

Peggy Holstedt, OSBA Policy Services director

The Legislature passed a lot of laws that impact your policies. We will provide you with an overview of the impact this will have on your work.

TABLE #11Your District is Being Sued: Subpoenas, Tort Claim Notices and Lawsuits

Michael Miller, OSBA Litigation Services attorney

Learn more about your legal obligations when you receive a subpoena, what a tort claim notice is and what you should do if your district is served with a lawsuit.

TABLE #12Superintendent Search Services

Sarah Herb, OSBA executive search and events specialist

Explore your options when a new or interim superintendent is needed.

TABLE #13Oregon Student Success Act Overview, Part B

Richard Donovan, OSBA Legislative Services specialist

The Student Success Act offers a historic investment in education, with far more statewide changes, initiatives and opportunities than one table talk can handle. This presentation will cover different content than Student Success Act Part A (Table 1), and participation in both is encouraged.

TABLE #14Five Ways to Help Your Schools Tell Their Best Stories

Jacob Arnold, OSBA communications and news specialist

When good things are happening in your schools, whom can you tell? Pick up tips to spread the word of your successes.

TABLE #15Board Self-Evaluation

Renee Sessler, OSBA Board Development specialist

OSBA has a new online tool for board self-evaluations that is tied to your student achievement. How can your board benefit by using this tool and investing in your professional development as a result?

HOT TOPICSSATURDAY, JULY 20*SUMMER CAMP for SCHOOL BOARDS*TABLE #16*School Board Members Serving as School Volunteers

Pam Lybarger, OSBA Board Development specialist

Is it advisable for board members to serve as volunteers in schools? What might the ramifications or benefits of such service be? Come here with your questions about volunteering while serving on the school board.

TABLE #17Complaint Policy Process

Leslie Fisher, OSBA Policy Services specialist

Complaint rules have been revised, including adding the discriminatory use of a Native American mascot. Find out about timelines and what can be appealed to the Oregon Department of Education.

TABLE #18Achieving Goals with National Board Certification

Anthony Rosilez, TSPC director

National Board Teacher Certification helps achieve the high academic standards expected under the Oregon Educational Act for the 21st Century. National Board Teacher Certification improves student academic success, especially for minority and low-income students.

TABLE #19Complaints Against the Board or Individual Board Members

Kristen Miles, OSBA Board Development specialist

Not sure what to do if a complaint is made against the board as a whole or one of its members? Come to this table to learn about the process and what you can do.

TABLE #20Superintendent Evaluation

Steve Kelley, OSBA Board Development director

Superintendent evaluation is one of the most important jobs of the school board. We will explain the process and calendar typically used by school boards to evaluate the superintendent.

TABLE #21Oregon School Board Members of Color Caucus

Bill Graupp, caucus president and North Marion SD board member

Learn about the goals and values of the Oregon School Board Members of Color Caucus (OSBMCC), its structure, advocacy and participation in policy advising, promotion of diversity in leadership, and professional learning for its members.