The superintendent/principals include reports of student academic accomplishments in their reports to the board.

The superintendent/principals include reports of how parents and community members are involved in students’ education.

The superintendent/principals include reports of how students are involved in the community.

Regular reports by teachers and students about these activities/programs are on the board agenda.

Selected programs/activities were publicized:
- In district newsletters
- In school newsletters
- On the district Web site
- On reader boards
- Through e-mail
- Through the local media
- Through presentations to community groups

Board and superintendent set annual goals to expand/improve communication efforts.

Use the following checklist to review your current communications and develop your district plan to make sure you are letting parents and other community members know:

- What students are accomplishing;
- How parents and community members are involved in that education; and
- How students are involved in the community.

Each school and department has been asked to complete an inventory of their current communications by _____________.

The completed inventory lists all the ways the district/schools currently communicate with:
- Staff
- Students
- Parents
- Attendance area residents
- Community groups
- Senior Citizens
- Other community members

In completing the inventory, administrators have discussed:
- Topics currently included in district and building communications
- Types of communication the district and buildings are using
- Changes in district/school attendance area demographics that impact communication

The inventory includes lists of programs/activities to publicize that show:
- What students are accomplishing
- How parents and community members are involved in that education
- How students are involved in the community

Inventory results were reported to the board _________________.

The superintendent/principals include reports of student academic accomplishments in their reports to the board.

The superintendent/principals include reports of how parents and community members are involved in students’ education.

The superintendent/principals include reports of how students are involved in the community.

Regular reports by teachers and students about these activities/programs are on the board agenda.

Selected programs/activities were publicized:
- In district newsletters
- In school newsletters
- On the district Web site
- On reader boards
- Through e-mail
- Through the local media
- Through presentations to community groups

Board and superintendent set annual goals to expand/improve communication efforts.